

SEEKS INCREASE UNDER RECENT LAW

Harry B. Henderson, County Superintendent, Asks an Additional $600 in Salary.

400 MUST SIGN PETITION

Board of Education Recommends That Petition Be Circulated in All the Townships.

Harry B. Henderson, county superintendent, gave notice to the board of education, in session at the court house Wednesday, that he would take steps immediately to get an increase in salary as was provided by a law passed by the recent state legislature. Under the law the county superintendent may get additional salary upon the filing of a petition signed by four hundred voters and the members of the board of education. The petition and request for the increase are filed with the county commissioners who have final action in the matter.

The county superintendent stated that he intended to ask for an increase of $600 a year. At the present time he is receiving $1,408.50 salary. In addition to this he receives $100 traveling expenses for visiting the schools in the county; $250 for clerk hire and $150 for the purchase of diplomas, examination papers and other supplies which are needed for the conduct of his office.

The members of the board heard the request and voted favorably on it, but with the provision that the four hundred signers to the petition be secured from the various townships in accordance with the population. Mr. Henderson said that he intended to do this and would have the petition ready to submit to the board in the near future.

The matter will then be taken up with the commissioners. The legislature enacted the law at the request of the state superintendent of public instruction, who stated that because of the increased wages that were given in all other lines many competent men were leaving the educational and teaching field to take up work that was more profitable.

Mr. Henderson secured a copy of the law which was read to the board of education. The law has not yet been published as it required several weeks to get the new enactments in shape for the printer.

REQUEST MADE FOR COPY OF CONTRACTORS' RELIEF LAW

Oren O. Swails, County Attorney, Awaits Information Before Acting on Road Cases.

At the meeting of the county commissioners which will be held Monday, it is expected that the contractors and bondsmen held responsible for the construction of concrete and macadam highways in this township will appear and demand a return of their contracts and bonds. It is expected that they will take advantage of the contractors' relief law which was passed by the last legislature. This law provides that contracts for highways which were awarded prior to June 1, 1917, cannot be enforced if the contractors refuse to build the roads.

The commissioners had ordered the contractors and bondsmen to appear at the April meeting and show cause why the contracts should not be completed without further delay. In the meantime the legislature passed the relief law. Oren O. Swails, county attorney, requested a copy of the new law in advance of the published acts so that he will know what decision to give the commissioners when the question is presented.

It is believed that the commissioners will return the contracts and bonds and inasmuch as the money for this work is already available, they will probably ask for new bids.

Pershing Ordered to Select List of Men for Priority for Returning.

By United Press.
Washington, April 3—Soldiers in the American army of occupation will be released as rapidly as volunteers can be sent, the war department stated today in a cable to General Pershing. Pershing was instructed to select the most meritorious cases from among his drafted men and those who enlisted for the war for priority in returning.

COUNTY MUST PAY CENSUS EXPENSES

State Board of Accounts Gives Ruling to Trustees Regarding Sexennial Enumeration.

APPROPRIATION NOT MADE

Enumerators Will Receive Five Cents Per Head in City and Eight Cents in Rural Districts.

That the sexennial enumeration of voters in Indiana is mandatory and that the county must provide funds for the pay of the enumerators, is the opinion that has been given by Ele Stansbury attorney-general, to the state board of accounts. A copy of the opinion has been forwarded by Gilbert Hendren, state examiner, to each of the trustees in Jackson county. The opinion clears up a controversy which originated here several weeks ago when the county council refused to make an appropriation for this work.

The county council took the attitude that the sexennial enumeration is useless and that the expense ought to fall on the trustees or be paid out of funds under the supervision of these officials. The trustees' salaries are fixed by a law which was passed by the legislature of 1917 and they did not like the idea of being required to pay for this work which the council officials did not believe to be necessary.

The matter was taken up with the chief examiner of the state board of accounts and he asked the attorney-general for an opinion. The

NEW REVENUE TAX IS FELT BY MOTION PICTURE FANS

Extra Penny is Added to Matinee Admission of Five Cents, Under the New Law.

Under the old revenue law the majestic heater manager was required to pay a war tax of one penny on each ten cent admission, but no special tax was made upon the matinee price of five cents. The new revenue bill which became effective April 1 changed that custom and includes a penny revenue even upon five-cent admissions. The change in the law was brought to the attention of the management of the local theater today. Hereafter, the additional penny will be added to the matinee admission price. The price of admission to the night shows will remain unchanged.

The majestic management was also notified that the war revenue of $100 on the theater would be increased to $200 under the new law. The management, of course, absorbs this increase, but is required to make a strict accounting of all admission tickets sold.

CORN BRINGING $1.50 PER BUSH ON LOCAL MARKET

Unusually Heavy Demand for This Grain Said to be Due to The Shortage of Wheat.

The local corn market has been very strong during the last few days, and buyers are paying $1.50 per bushel today. This price was established yesterday when a jump from $1.35 was recorded.

It is understood that the soaring market is due to the shortage of wheat. There is hardly enough wheat to meet the demands and corn is being substituted wherever possible. This results in a better demand on an already steady market.

MODERN CHURCH TO BE CONSTRUCTED

Trinity M. E. Congregation Plans Extensive Remodeling or Building of New Home.

HOPES TO START WORK SOON

Architect From Conference Bureau Makes Inspection of the Property And Will Draw Plans.

The Trinity M. E. congregation has decided to have a new church home and it is expected that the work on the structure will be started within a few months, probably sometime during the summer. Definite decision has not yet been reached whether the present building will be remodeled or whether a new building will be constructed. The members of the congregation are considering both plans and are postponing final decision until they determine which would be the better.

The Rev. William Weiler, pastor, stated this afternoon that the members of the official board and the congregation in general were giving careful attention to the proposed improvement plans and hoped to be able to reach a definite conclusion shortly. The congregation has decided to build larger Sunday School quarters which are needed for the growing school. Even if the present building is remodeled, the cost will run up into a substantial sum and the question is presented whether or not it would be more economical in the end to raze the present building and erect a new church from the ground up with all the modern improvements.

E. C. Lowe, an architect who is in the employ of the M. E. conference bureau, was here from Chicago a few days ago and went over the situation thoroughly with the minister, and the members of the congregation. He will prepare a number of plans, both for remodeling and for new church building which would meet the needs of the local congregation, and it is expected that these will aid the members in deciding which plan will be adopted.

The matter of location has also been considered and some of the members, it is said, desire to relocate the new building, while others believe that the present location is all to be desired considering the welfare of the majority of the members. This question will also be taken up after the plans are received from the Chicago architectural department of the church.

The Trinity M. E. church has a membership of about two hundred and is in a strong, growing condition. The Sunday School of the church is especially strong and the members desire to give this department every opportunity possible to grow. Particular attention will be given to the Sunday School rooms when the new building is erected. Mr. Weiler said that it was the intention of the members to arrange the new building so that more attention could be given to the social side of church life. The church is about fifty years old and is one of the strongest congregations from the financial standpoint in the city. The members are much interested in the new plans and are enthusiastic over the idea of having a larger and more modern church home which will be arranged and equipped for the best possible service to which it will be dedicated.

SCHOOL COUNT TO BE MADE SHORTLY

Township Trustees Required Under Law to Appoint Enumerators for This Important Work.

SCHOOL BOARDS HAVE DUTY

Reports Must be Filed With County Superintendent Before The Last Day of The Month.

The township trustees and the school boards in the incorporated cities and towns in Jackson county are making preparations for the annual enumeration of persons of school age. The enumerators for the rural school districts are appointed by the trustees, while the school boards will appoint them for the incorporated towns. There will be but one enumerator for Jackson township outside of the city while two will likely be named for the city.

A law of 1913 provides that an enumeration of soldiers and sailors shall be made at the same time the census of school children is taken, but this provision has not been generally observed until this year. The present enumeration must include not only soldiers and sailors of the Civil war and Spanish American but also those in the world war.

On the basis of this enumeration, the county superintendent frames his recapitulation of the canvass of both county and city, which is sent to the state board of education. The school appropriation is based upon the county superintendent's report and will be about $2.50 per child. The census is figured by townships and ranges under the congressional survey. For the present enumeration the trustees agreed to pay assistants at the rate of $2.50 per day for their work.

The law requires the enumeration to be taken between April 10 and April 30 of each year. Some of the "don'ts" to be observed by enumerators are of especial interest. They are not to enumerate married people, nor children of families that are temporary residents. Children are not to be enumerated who are attending school in the town or city and whose parents, guardians or heads of families reside elsewhere. They are not to list any person born since April 30, 1913, or any persons born previous to April 10, 1898, and employees in factories are to be listed at their homes and not at their places of business.

The trustees of Jackson county have been instructed to pay the enumerators from the special school fund appropriation that is made for this purpose. The statute provides that the pay for this work shall be reasonable, but no specific amount is fixed.

150,000 WORKERS IN BERLIN STRIKE

Skilled Craftsmen First to Walkout But Other Unions Soon Follow.

NO VIOLENCE IN THE CITY

Disturbances Renewed With Additional Vigor in Stuttgart and Other Cities.

By United Press.
Berlin, April 3.—More than 150,000 workers went on strike in Berlin late yesterday. Metal workers and other skilled craftsmen were the first to walk out. They were quickly followed by several other trade unions. While the strike has been anticipated for several days, it was believed it might be postponed until next week, and the sudden walkout caught the government forces unprepared. There was no violence, however, and the city was quiet.

Reports reaching here today indicated that disturbances had been renewed in Stuttgart and Frankfurt with great vigor than before. More than twenty persons have been killed and fifty wounded in Stuttgart. Business is completely at a standstill. Crowds swarm through the streets, storming army food wags. Government troops are maintaining the upper hand by means of machine guns. A battery of tanks is assisting in patrolling the streets.

In Frankfurt, hundreds of persons have been arrested. Loss from plundering is estimated at more than a million dollars.

Martial law has been proclaimed throughout the Rhine lands, a dis-

NATIONAL GOVERNMENT IN RUSSIA MAKES APPEAL

Fight The Lenine-Trotsky Regime and Seek "Square Deal" at The Peace Conference.

By United Press.
Washington, April 3.—The national Russian government, the leading regime organized in opposition to the Lenine-Trotsky government issued an appeal for a square deal at the peace conference.

Through the Russian embassy here an official outline of what is expected from the peace conference was issued and includes:

Prompt allied assistance to reestablish order in Russia; allied cooperation to meet the acute merchandise shortage in Russia; allied investment for development of unexploited wealth in Russia and for reconstruction of Russian industry; allied aid in establishing a new monetary system in Russia.

"BIG FOUR" FAILS TO MAKE PROGRESS

SITUATION IN GERMANY

Bitter Debate in British Parliament Over Delays Regarded as Significant.

By United Press.

Paris, April 3.—Continued failure of the "big four" to accomplish any apparent progress together with increasing seriousness of the situation in Germany, accentuated the pessimism surrounding the peace conference today. There was talk in some quarters that it may be necessary to make peace along general lines, if the settlement is to be effected before a crisis is reached in Germany.

The recent bitter debate in the British parliament over the peace delay is regarded as significant.

Important economic concessions to the soviet governments in Russia and Hungary were being considered by the "big four" today. The allies, it was understood, are practically convinced that the situation in those two countries demands immediate attention, and that some sort of understanding with their governments is as urgent as peace with Germany.

Food shipments to Russia and Hungary and coal exportations to the latter country probably will constitute the allies' initial move to check the westward spread of Bolshevism.

Official advices from American representatives in Hungary indicate that country would make large concessions to the allies in return for food and fuel.

The government, according to these advices is consolidating its position and giving every evidence of permanency. Good order prevails. Hungarian leaders are still stressing the fact their government is "communist" as distinguished from the Russian Bolshevik system. Property sequestration, it was said does not apply to Americans.

Considerable significance has been attached to the order for General Smuts South African leader, to pro-

RACIAL DISCRIMINATION MUST REMAIN, SENATOR SAYS

Hitchcock Declares Japan's Contentment Cannot Be Granted By World League.

By United Press.

Washington, April 3.—Japanese insistence upon elimination of racial discrimination under the league of nations cannot be concurred in by the United States, according to a statement by Senator Hitchcock, chairman of the foreign relations committee in the last senate.

Hitchcock stated: "The Japanese demand for racial equality and her insistence that all discrimination between races be discontinued, is based more than on national pride than national interests."

"In all international matters the Japanese have equality of treatment. Only when it comes to domestic matters do nations reserve the right to make discriminations between races. This includes, of course, immigration and in some states, it is covered by laws relating to marriage between certain races as well as the right to acquire real estate. These discriminations may hurt Japanese pride, but they do not affect the interests of Japan as a nation. We cannot agree to abandon our fight to make these discriminations. We think they are for the purpose of preserving our race purity and our industrial standards. Japan is free to do the same in her country. Every nation ought to be."

THE HOME-COMING.

The organization that will have charge of the Victory loan campaign in Jackson county has proposed that a great home-coming celebration in honor of the returned soldiers be held as an inaugural feature of the drive. It is suggested that the reception be given a few days before the loan campaign opens and that the crowd which will gather to do honor to the Jackson county heroes be informed as to the purposes of the Victory campaign. Jackson county ought to give a public reception for her soldiers. It appears that a favorable time to stage it would be in connection with the opening of the loan drive. The Victory campaign cannot be a success unless it is supported by the public. Popular indorsement of it in a substantial way will prove to all the world that the United States not only backs up its fighting forces while they are in the field, but they will provide every need required for those who are still overseas.

I have used it in my family for many years for coughs, colds and La Grippe. I have used it for these ailments, so have most of the members of my family, and it always gave perfect satisfaction, knowing what it has done for us I highly recommend it."—Mrs. Ed Basche, 421 5th St.

The Victory loan offers a splendid inducement to investors. In some other countries where the government loans are floated by popular subscription, the amount would be quickly taken up. In France nearly every peasant holds one or more government bonds. More people in this country own government securities now than ever before. We have had a taste of what it means to own non-taxable securities upon which the interest is paid twice a year. The new bonds or notes, whichever they may be, will mature within a few years. Some of them may not be dated for longer than two or three years. Some may not mature for five or even ten years. But the fact remains that the investment is a safe one and there is every reason to believe that the American people will take up the issue with the same ready response that has been shown in the other four flotations.

Within a short time the enumeration of persons of school age will be made in this county. It is highly important that all such persons be taken in this census. Not only children who are in school, but all those who have reached their sixth birthday and are not more than twenty-one years should be reported. Upon this report will depend the share of money that Jackson county will receive in the semi-annual distribution. The money that is divided is held by the state treasurer and there is no cost whatever on the public. It is simply a matter of dividing interest on the principal. Jackson county is entitled to its full share of this money and the public can aid in a material way by reporting to the enumerators all persons who are six years old and who are not yet twenty-one.

President Wilson has strongly intimated that unless the "big four" in the peace conference speeds up their work, he will resort to "pitiless publicity." There is no question but that the work of the peace conference has been dragging along much longer than it should. Every delegate and representative knows that and has so publicly expressed himself. The issues are big and many features that are not considered at first blush de-

LONG WEAR AND ECONOMY

"Last year I purchased a standard make of shoes, and in sixty days the soles were worn through. I had them re-soled with Neolin Soles—which lasted me six months in the same service that wore out the other soles in two," writes E. A. Lancaster of Lancaster & Company, jewelers, Greenville, Tenn.

Mr. Lancaster's experience with Neolin Soles is not unusual. Millions of people can testify to their long wear and economy. To reduce your shoe expense, buy Neolin-soled shoes. You can get them in many styles for every member of the family. Neolin Soles are created by Science to be comfortable and waterproof as well as long wearing. Good repair shops carry them. velop, but it seems that more head-ship should be made. If "pitiless publicity" will speed up the work, the President ought not hesitate to get busy with his staff of correspondents.

The Jackson County Farm Association is considering the holding of an agricultural fair. This ought to prove an interesting and instructive feature. It is designed to take the place of the old county fair which years ago attracted great crowds. The farmers ought to have a place to show the public what they have grown during the year. The people want to see such products. The Farm Association may feel that the public is back of its suggestion and is ready to aid in making the proposed fair a success.

The HOT SPOT Chalmers is the One Car of the Day

THE great American public, never fooled for long, is beginning to realize that Chalmers is one of the few great cars of the world.

Sales are climbing fast. From coast to coast the movement is toward Chalmers.

Today this car is on a production basis at the factory that Chalmers executives little expected to occur even in July.

Why is this? The answer is "Hot Spot." For this simple but really magnificent device does a trick in the use of gas that is almost beyond belief.

It "smashes up" raw gas, "pulverizes" it, makes it "fine as dust," so that you can get every last bit of power out of gas.

Then the great Ram's-horn rushes it gently but quickly through "easy air bends" to the cylinders, and what is the result?

Not only high power from a low grade gas, but an even, soft flow of power that rests your nerves, saves your tires, and gives you a new and rare delight in driving.

Please don't miss this present day Chalmers. It's the one car of the day.

HOW-TO-GROW

How to Grow Irish Potatoes.

While Irish potatoes are not adapted to growing in the extremely small garden, most gardeners prefer to include them in their list.

One peck of seed Irish potatoes will plant about 300 feet of row. Potatoes require a well prepared, rich, soil, and it pays to use commercial fertilizer, well mixed with the soil of the hills or the rows. The seed should be cut two eyes to each piece, with plenty of potato attached. One piece should be planted in each hill and covered to a depth of about three and one-half or four inches. The rows should be at least thirty inches apart and the hills twelve to fifteen inches apart in the row.

Early Irish potatoes may be planted a little before or about the time the last spring frosts occur. This will give them an opportunity to make a start and reach the surface of the ground by warm weather. Irish potatoes require frequent cultivation and should be gradually hilled up to form a bed. Large quantities of manure should not be used. Great care should be taken to avoid seed affected by scab disease, as this disease develops rapidly and greatly injures the quality. Use nothing but clean, well-kept seed.—United States Department of Agriculture.

MORE RED BLOOD AND STEADIER NERVES FOR RUN DOWN PEOPLE

The World Demands, Strong, Vigorous, Keen-Minded, Men and Women

It has been said of Americans that they work their habits overtime.

Many become nervous and inefficient by overwork.

By worry, despondency, social affairs, robbing brain and body of needed rest; excessive use of tobacco, indulgence in strong alcoholic drink—excesses of every kind that burn up the vital powers so necessary in these trying times to make both men and women fit to be of help to themselves and others.

It is time to be temperate in all things. The man or woman with impaired nerves caused by impoverished blood lacks vigor, the ambition, the endurance and the keen mind of those who avoid excesses.

Timidity, despondency, fear, trembling hands, want of confidence and even cowardliness, are due in a large measure to abused nerves.

People with plenty of red blood corpuscles and strong, healthy nerves have no desire to shirk work and lean on others for guidance and support.

There is hardly a nerve-shattered man or woman (unless of an organic disease) in America today who cannot become alert and clear in mind; vigorous and energetic in body in a very few weeks and at trifling cost.

To become strong and ambitious, to feel that work is not drudgery; to have steady nerves, abundance of red blood and power of endurance; to be not only a man but as men now go, a superman, you must take seven tablets of Bio-feren every day for seven days—and take them faithfully.

Take two after each meal and one at bedtime and after seven days take one only after meal until the supply is exhausted.

Then if you feel that any claim made in this special notice is untrue—if your nerves are not twice as steady as before; if you do not feel ambitious, more vigorous and keen-minded, the pharmacist who dispensed the tablets to you will gladly hand you back just what you paid for them.

Bio-feren is without doubt the grandest remedy for nervous, rundown, weak, anemic men and women ever offered direct through druggists and is not at all expensive. All druggists in this city and vicinity have a supply on hand—sell many packages.

Soldiers' Letters

"The First Sanitarian."

Private Charles Weddel, F. H. No. 13, 1st. Div., A. P. O. 729, has sent a letter to The Republican. In it he includes a paper, "The First Sanitarian," which is published by the men of the First Sanitary Train, with the First Division, Army of Occupation. One article gives the history of the town, Hilscheid, from 2,000 years ago when Roman troops were on guard duty along that point, until the present time when it was taken over by the United States, in December, 1918. Other articles give the service record for the company and other interesting matters concerning the personnel of the company. The "Sanitarian" is a four page paper and is published weekly. The letter is as follows:

Hilscheid, Germany.

March 16, 1919.

Editor of the Republican:

Will you admit a short letter in your columns from a Jackson county boy?

I came over with the 39th. division which left New York harbor on August 22nd, and landed at Brest, France, September 3rd.

While at Brest we were in camp for two or three days, then we went to the depot and climbed aboard a troop train marked on the side of each coach, "40 Hommes" or "8 chevaux." In English we would say room for 40 men or 8 horses. So you see we had some way to travel. It generally took us about 72 hours to go what we would call 100 miles or by French measurement it would be about 165 kilometers. After about 60 or 72 hours' ride we came to a stop about 11:30 p. m. one Saturday night and were ordered to get off with packs on. So we went out into a wheat field and there pitched tents for the night. So by sunrise the next morning we were up and on our way. About 10 o'clock that day we stopped and ate lunch which was of hard tack and corned beef (or corn willie, so-called by the doughboys.) By noon that day we had been placed in billets and were stationed there until November 9th, when we left for a classification camp. It was then we realized we did not belong to any division.

The day we walked into the camp the armistice was signed and some of the men in camp that night had a parade. We were in camp for a few days and then started out on the second ride in box-cars, which took us to the famous old battle front of Verdun where fighting had been going off and on for four years past. There we were billeted for thirty-six hours in a building that was hit by shells and had the roof off. From there we went to join the division I am now with. From where we joined our outfit one could look for miles and see nothing but shell holes and trenches, also trees that are partly shot away.

Hills kept us from seeing no man's land north of Verdun. About the 21st. of November the outfit started to move toward the Rhine, in the meantime we passed through the territory of Luxembourg. There we found people who could speak good English, French, Dutch and Italian languages. We were in Luxembourg for two or three weeks and then the next thing to do was to cross the Rhine, which we crossed early on the morning of the 14th. of December at Coblenz, Germany. I am certainly glad I made the trip. It is worth money to any young fellow to get to make such a trip as this. There are most all kinds of amusements, moving pictures, foot ball, boxing and now it will soon be weather fit to play base ball. Passes are also given out for 1, 3 or 7 days. The 7-day passes one can go through Paris and is good for seven days in the place they are to be besides the time it takes to go and come, which is fourteen to twenty days, all told.

The German people treat us good. They are willing to do anything for us that they can. I am sending you one of the papers published by this Division.

Well, I guess I had better quit for this time, hoping the time soon will be when we sail for the U. S. A. I will gladly answer any letters I receive from persons wishing to correspond with me.

With best wishes to you for a successful year, I am

Yours very respectfully,
Private Charles Weddel.

ABANDONED WESTERN OIL FIELDS FOR RICHER PROMISE IN ZINC ORE

Organization of the Louisville Mansfield Zinc & Lead Syndicate Reveals Business Romance

Dr. T. T. Beeler, Dentist, Then Oil Magnate, Sold Interest in 157 Wells for Bigger Prospects.

Louisville, Ky.—How a business romance, blossoming in the bosom of Mother Earth, led the way to a dream of affluence that is fast materializing, is brought out in the organization here of the Louisville Lead & Zinc Syndicate Company, a corporation the stock of which rapidly is becoming the property of the public. That it is not a romance of the oil fields will be a matter of surprise to those who look largely to the oil well as the fountain of business romance.

Formation of the Louisville Mansfield Lead & Zinc Syndicate follows closely upon organization of the Kentucky Mansfield Lead & Zinc Syndicate, a corporation already on an operating and dividend-paying basis, but the romance goes back eleven years to the oil fields of the west and to a dentist's chair in a small Oklahoma town.

In a suite of offices in the Starks Building a small keen-eyed man, trying to make every minute yield its quota of result of an atmosphere of high pressure, knows all about the romance, for he had lived it. He is Dr. T. T. Beeler, vice president of the new LOUISVILLE MANSFIELD LEAD & ZINC SYNDICATE. He is the man who, eleven years ago, while a practicing dentist in an Oklahoma town, became interested in western oil development. With holdings in 157 oil wells after he had become successful in that game, Dr. Beeler had wide opportunities to observe the possibilities and exigencies of that business, or game, as it may rightly be called. He saw men carried up into the realm of sudden riches; he saw hopes fulfilled beyond their own limits. But he saw the other side, too, of the oil game—its uncertainty, and the ruin that this uncertainty brought to some.

One day Dr. Beeler heard about the strike made in the famous Joplin zinc ore district. He began studying the possibilities of the new found opportunity. He reflected that in the oil business, when a well was drilled, no mortal could with certainty tell which of four things would be the result—oil, water, gas or a hole in the ground. He reflected that an oil well, drilled from 1,100 to 3,300 feet in the ground, cost from $5,000 to $30,000 before its real promise was known. And then he compared this with data he had gathered about the mining industry, in which nature's store of wealth lies comparatively close to the surface and covers great areas, necessitating, in proportion, a small initial outlay. He applied this comparison particularly to what he had heard about the Joplin-Mansfield fields.

Dr. Beeler was not long in making up his mind. It was two years ago in Kansas City that the project, which is now being carried to every state in the Union, had its inception. Dr. Beeler had selected a partner, severed his connections with the oil fields, and had employed an agent, versed in the technique of such an undertaking, to investigate opportunities in the Joplin district.

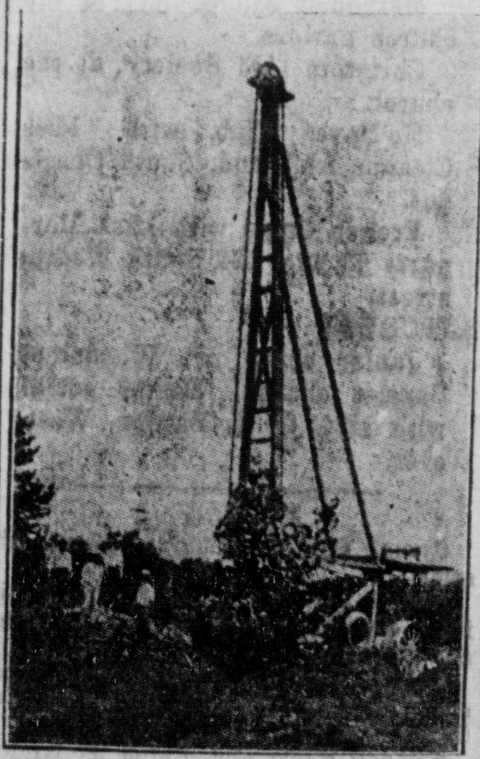

But it was by chance that the real opportunity was found. One day, when Dr. Beeler's emissary was fruitlessly bickering with people in the field to which prospectors were already swarming, an old man called him aside.

"If you want to see an unworked locality, I want to show you something," said the old man.

As the result of the investigation and assaying which followed, Dr. Beeler, his partner and several notaries, in all of the public automobiles the nearby town afforded, set out in the late afternoon in what is now the Mansfield district. The chauffeurs and the notaries and all others with whom the party came in contact were bound to secrecy. There were neither automobiles nor notaries available for other possible prospectors.

That was October 16, 1917. In a day or so, the prospectors had secured leases on 18,000 acres of land rich in ore, and had laid the foundation of the project which is now becoming nation-wide. They knew that by taking the ore from slight excavations at given points over a given area, that the findings of an expert assayer-geologist would give them the exact extent of wealth which the establishment of mills would produce. Unlike the mere promise of an oil well, the potential-ties of a zinc field could be scientifically established. Their reports were secured from A. Arnold, State geologist of Missouri, and Joseph Metcalfe, a London mineralogist and engineer, and showed that tests had proved the expectations of the prospectors.

These geological reports bear out to a large extent a theory which later became current as to the origin of the rich mineral products around Mansfield, Mo. According to this theory, Mansfield, one of the highest points in the district, is the site of a pre-historic volcano. The purest ore is found closest to this center, while the adulterated deposits are found as the distance becomes greater.

Once he had secured rights to the land, Dr. Beeler's plan became known and soon the district was a bee hive of fortune-hunters. But all of the promising land in the vicinity had been leased by Dr. Beeler and his associates and they were ready to launch their project.

Their scheme of operation calls ultimately for the organization of local companies in each of the forty-five states. Each of these corporations will be granted concessions around the reserved portion of the leases which the parent corporation will hold and which will be enhanced in value with the growing activity surrounding it.

The Kentucky Mansfield Lead & Zinc Syndicate was incorporated June 13, 1918. Its capital stock of $100,000 was quickly sold out. On November 1 it bought its first mill, which soon began operations on the ground, and on February 1 a 2% dividend for January was paid stockholders, following which was paid a 3% dividend for February.

The Kentucky syndicate is made up almost entirely of Kentucky men. Dr. T. M. Crutcher, of Louisville, head of the Louisville Dental Laboratory, is president, and N. C. Cureton is secretary. W. E. Newbold, of Louisville, is treasurer. Edward J. McDermott, of Louisville, is the corporation's attorney. Dr. Beeler is one of the directors, as is also Dr. Charles A. Funk.

The officers of the LOUISVILLE MANSFIELD LEAD & ZINC SYNDICATE, which was formed February 21, 1918, are the same as those of the Kentucky syndicate except that Dr. Beeler is vice president and J. C. Mahon, well known Louisville business man, is a director. Over half of the capital stock of $500,000 already has been sold. Offices of the company are at 409 Starks Bldg., Louisville.

The stock is being put out at $1.00 (par value) per share.

The company's property is in the heart of the Ozark Mountains, Wright County, Mo. One forty-acre tract is located between two mills, those of the Kentucky syndicate, known as the "Pioneer Mill," and of W. E. Caldwell, of Louisville, known as the "Red-bird Mill." This tract is considered one of the best in the district although three other forty-acre tracts are well located and partly tested.

So, as the new LOUISVILLE MANSFIELD LEAD & ZINC SYNDICATE starts its wheels a-whirling, the business romance of the poor dentist is carried farther along its way to the pocket-books and bank accounts of shrewd investors the country over.

Why not shade your back porch with a screen of lima beans? The crop may surprise you.

T. M. Crutcher, President.
Nat C. Cureton, Secretary.

T. T. Beeler, Vice President.
W. E. Newbold, Treasurer.

"Make Your Dollars Have More Cents"

Stock Now $1.00

¶ We're away over the $200,000 mark! We've received checks for stock from States as distant as New York and Texas! ¶ Investors are judging the value of the stock of the Louisville Mansfield Lead and Zinc Company by the record of the Kentucky Mansfield Lead and Zinc Syndicate. That company, already in operation, paid a monthly dividend of 2% in January and 3% in February. The officers and directors of both companies are chiefly the same gentlemen and the newer company has been organized to do just what the other is doing but on a larger scale. ¶ Its holdings are greater, consisting of four tracts of 40 acres each in the Mansfield District, right where the Mother Lode of the great Ozark Lead and Zinc fields comes nearest the surface. We've proven our holdings by drilling. We're already sinking the first shaft for our first mill!

SALOONS CEASED BUSINESS JUST TWELVE MONTHS AGO

Local Police Court Under Prohibition Shows Lightest Docket in Many Years.

The saloons in this city went out of business just one year ago under the statewide prohibition law. Seymour has had an opportunity to test the prohibition law for twelve months and during that time close attention has been given to the results. The docket in the police court during the last year has been much lighter than for some time and there has been a noticeable scarcity of arrests because of intoxication. For weeks at a time there have been no occupants in the local jail.

Immediately after the saloons went out of business a number of the fifteen rooms occupied by them were vacant, but practically all of these have been rented since that time to stores which engage in other lines of business. A few of the former saloon rooms are occupied by soft drink stands.

The importation of liquor from "wet" territory is the biggest problem now confronting the local police authorities, but it is believed that by co-operation between state and government officials this problem will be practically eliminated within a few months.

LOCAL RED CROSS WILL SEND CLOTHES FOR RELIEF

People Having Clothing Are Asked to Send it to The Red Cross Work Room, B. & O. Building.

The local Red Cross chapter is striving to meet the requirements of the relief organization by making up one or more boxes of clothing and shoes for use in foreign countries where the populace is suffering. Twelve boxes of such supplies have been shipped by the Jackson County Chapter in the two previous drives that were conducted by the relief organization.

Mrs. C. H. Oesting is local chairman of this committee and is directing the work. It was announced that the clothing would be received at the old Red Cross room on Chestnut street, but it was later decided to receive the supplies at the Red Cross work shop in the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad building. The local committee desires to ship these boxes as soon as possible and persons having clothing are asked to deliver it to the Red Cross quarters without delay.

Mrs. Giles Williams visited here this morning for several hours en route to her home in Williams, after a several months' visit with her daughter, Mrs. H. N. Sherwood, at Franklin.

PREVENTION OF WAR IS SUBJECT OF ADDRESS

Prof. H. N. Sherwood, of Franklin College, Spoke to High School Students This Morning.

Prof. H. N. Sherwood, of Franklin College, was in Seymour for a short time this morning in the interest of Franklin Summer School session. Prof. Sherwood visited the high school and addressed the students on the subject, "Will There be Another War?" He discussed the various remedies which have been proposed. First of these the well known statement, "In time of peace prepare for war." As a result of this policy wars have been frequent occurrences in all parts of the world. Seventy-five to eighty per cent. of every dollar received now by the United States goes for war expenses. In 1849 at Navara there a pyramid of skulls fifteen feet high was the result of battles in that vicinity. In 1859 at Magenta, a church was filled with skulls of victims of war. In the south there are 12,000 acres of graveyards resulting from the civil war. So this policy has not prevented war.

The second policy proposed is disarmament. As examples of the success of this policy Chili and Argentina have had no trouble since they disarmed their forces along the border. The United States and Great Britain since 1817 have not had a fortress on the Canadian border or a battleship on the great lakes. But the question in the world today is, who will agree to this disarmament policy first?

The third remedy suggested is arbitration. The courts of the civilized countries were used as an illustration. In the Hague peace court, two hundred cases of international difficulties have been settled. The question with this policy is how we may get all nations to agree to arbitration and compel them to keep their agreement.

The fourth remedy suggested is an international police force and a league of nations.

Prof. Sherwood stated that he believed the final remedy is a transformation of the human spirit. This transformation will remove the cause of war just as preventives in medicine have stopped the scourges of disease and the spread of epidemics. The most frequent causes of war are personal ambition, desire for territorial conquest, national rivalry and economical needs. It is necessary to win the higher battles of life by conquering self and by giving self in service for others. This transformation in the individual will lead to a similar transformation in national life. He used the life of Raymond Robbins as an example. He was a weakling physically but through work developed strength; he was poor but became rich; he was ignorant but obtained an education, he caught a vision of the cross, which transformed his life.

Dr. Sherwood expects to return to Seymour April 16 when he will speak to the teachers of the high school and address the pupils again.

PRICE OF HAM AND EGGS WILL NOT BE ADVANCED

No Appreciable Increase in Such Products as Result of License Removal.

By United Press.

Chicago, April 3.—The proletarian as well as his moneyed brother, is to have his ham and eggs for breakfast occasionally, despite removal of the pork packers license system.

This was the opinion here today of packers and grain men.

"We do not expect any appreciable increase in the price of pork, excepting that due to demand," said F. R. Burroughs, of Swift and Company. He cited the Europe demand as meaning a possible slight rise in price.

L. D. H. Weld, of Swift and Company's commercial research department, was equally as sure of "reasonableness" in increase.

"The effect of removal of the license system by the food administration, will be practically nil," said Weld.

Grainmen also were confident pork would not make an undue rise in price and even predicted possible relief in grains and flour.

"The packers are not trying to raise the price of pork produce," declared C. Walter Beaver of the Board of Trade. Demand, he said, would be the only factor.

Beaver predicted a probable drop in flour prices within six months owing to shipment into the United States of dutyless Canadian wheat.

COFFEE PRICES TO ADVANCE.

Market to Be Higher Until Future Crops Develop.

By United Press.

Chicago, April 3.—Coffee importers and roasters have decided to spend $150,000 in a four year campaign to "tell the truth and give the facts" about coffee, according to announcement today by roasters of the Mississippi valley in convention here.

A similar fund of $1,000,000 has been raised by Brazilian coffee planters, it was said.

Coffee prices will advance, it was predicted and will remain high until future crops develop. The advance was not due to the war, it was said, but to devastation of coffee fields in South America.

An automobile driven by W. O. Shepard of this city, plunged into a telephone pole on the state road near the Masonic home at Franklin, Tuesday. Mr. Shepard was fixing a side curtain at the time and the machine ran off the road. His daughter, Mrs. Lois Claus, was thrown forward through the windshield cutting a gash in her forehead. Mrs. Claus was removed to a nearby house and a physician was called. Three stitches were required to close the gash. The windshield was broken and the fenders and radiator bent in the accident.

"Tuning Up" The Motor

YOU have noticed, of course, that there is a big difference in the way that automobiles run. Some of them get over the ground, but the motor "misses" and the power is unsteady and jerky. The driver never knows just how his car is going to behave.

Then there are other cars that fairly "skim" over the roads with the soft, purring of the motor. You have noticed that such cars respond promptly and easily to the touch of the driver. There is always plenty of power for speed and hills.

The difference in the machines is the way they are adjusted.

Our mechanical experts know just what your car needs so that it will run with the responsive, purring sound.

Mr. A. H. Wagner, who served the government as a motor expert during the war, is at the head of our mechanical department. He has a personal knowledge of all makes of cars and can tell you just what is wrong with your machine.

On March 24 we will have two new mechanics so that your work can be done promptly. Bring your cars around and let us inspect them for you.

After the "Flu" —Fever or Cold

Clean the Acidity and Toxic Poisons
Out of the Digestive Tract

Millions are now suffering from the after effects of the deadly "flu," a fever or a cold. Their appetites are poor; they are weak, and they are waiting for their strength to come back. If these people could only realize that the return to health and strength would be greatly helped by giving attention to the stomach—that is, removing the acidity and toxic poisons from the entire digestive tract, making it act naturally, so that the body will receive the full strength of the food eaten—a great deal of suffering would be saved to humanity.

Everyone knows that the disease itself, and the strong medicines that have been taken, upset the stomach, leave it hot and feverish, the month dry, the tongue coated, a nasty taste, and no desire to eat. This is a poor foundation to build new strength on.

Now, tens of thousands of people all over this country are using EATONIC for the purpose of cleaning these poisonous after-effects right out of the system and they are obtaining wonderful results—so wonderful that the amazingly quick benefits are hardly believable, just as shown in the remarkable letter which is published upon the request of this sturdy old Civil War veteran. He is 77 years old. Read what he says EATONIC did for him:

"I am an old soldier, past seventy-seven years. I had the Spanish influenza and it left my stomach in an awful shape. I tried three different doctors but got no relief. As a last resort I sent and got a box of EATONIC and to my greatest surprise the very first tablet I took helped me. I can now eat anything I want, and feel fine."

Yours faithfully,
Fowler, Indiana
Dec. 4, 1918 C. S. Martin

P. S.: If you can make any use of this letter for suffering humanity, you are at liberty to do so. C. S. M.

This is only one case out of thousands. You should make the EATONIC test in your own case at once. You have everything to gain—not a penny can you lose, for we take all the risk. Your own common sense, your own feelings, tell you that a good appetite, good digestion, a good stomach, with the fever poisons and effects of strong medicines out of your system, will put you on the road to strong, robust health again.

You want to enjoy life again after you have battled with the "flu," fever or colds, or any other illness that has taken your strength. You want to get back your old-time vigor, be full of pep and enthusiasm—be able to work with ease, instead of listlessly, half-heartedly dragging out a mere existence.

So be sure to take a box of EATONIC home with you today. We cannot urge this too strongly. If EATONIC fails to give you positive beneficial results, it will not cost you a penny. There is no risk—the benefit is surely all for you.

TAKE EATONIC TODAY
FOR YOUR ACID-STOMACH

NOTE—Over 20,000 drug stores throughout the United States sell and guarantee EATONIC. If you cannot obtain EATONIC quickly at your drug store, do not be without it. Write us and we will mail you a big 50c box at once and you can send us the 50c after you get it. Address: EATONIC REMEDY CO., 1044 South Wabash Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

LITTLE JOURNEYS IN THE GARDEN

Many Americans do not eat enough greens and salad vegetables for their health.

One of the best things about the garden is that it offers work suited to each member of the family.

What is a back yard good for? It may be made to supply the average family with fresh vegetables through the growing season.

A weed is any plant in the wrong place. Vegetables too close together are as injurious to each other as weeds. Thin them out before they are large enough to crowd.

A few crops well chosen and properly cultivated are preferable to a miscellaneous assortment—no one of which will supply enough vegetables to make a full serving for the entire family.

Out of the garden and over the fire. Sweet corn begins to deteriorate almost as soon as it is picked. No one knows its true flavor unless he has seen it come smoking hot to the table within an hour after being pulled from the stalk.

Clay soil should not be plowed or spaded in spring nor cultivated after a rain until it ceases to be sticky. It is ready for working when a handful of it, after being squeezed tightly, crumbles readily instead of remaining in a solid mass.

The supply of manure in cities is now quite limited and it behooves the city gardener to secure enough somewhere to fertilize his garden plot, especially if his soil is heavy and lacking in organic matter. Where manure can not be obtained, a number of crops, such as Irish potatoes, beans, peas, and tomatoes, can be grown fairly well by the aid of commercial fertilizers. Street sweepings are unsafe to use if they contain much oil or tar.

Have your onions stuck up their periscopes? If onions are to be grown from seed, they should be planted early in the spring—the earlier the better. Seedling onions require the greatest care in soil preparation and culture, so the beginner in gardening will do well to stick to onion sets.

It is really surprising how much food in the form of greens or salad crops can be grown in the spaces between the plants or rows of the larger or standard crops. For example, all the lettuce and radishes required by the average family may be grown between the plants of early tomatoes.

Water still runs downhill. Practice level culture for most vegetables. Do not make a raised bed on which to plant, nor hill up much earth along the rows in cultivating. Raised areas lose water, not only because it flows away, but also because they are exposed to the drying action of the air. Sweet potatoes, however, are usually planted on a low, broad ridge to insure a good bed of loose earth in which their roots may develop. Irish potatoes, too, are commonly hilled up in cultivation, but the hilling should be very slight in regions and on soils where some drought is to be expected.

A garden that produces only one crop and idles away half of the growing season does only half of its duty.

There are plenty of garden seeds, but the supply of extra good ones is always small.

Suggestions by mothers who have been kindergartners. Issued by the United States Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C., and the National Kindergarten Association, 3 West Fortieth Street, New York.

My sister Helen and I are getting along. We can't call ourselves young any more. Her daughter Margery is married and her son Frank is in the senior year at college. Helen has reason to feel perfectly satisfied with her work as a mother. Both Margery and Frank would be a credit to any family. They have their faults, but these are not noticeable. What I admire most in them is their absolute sincerity; there seems to be not only no striving after effect, but complete unconsciousness of it. I question whether this is entirely desirable in a boy of Frank's temperament. If he were not kindhearted, his bluntness would at times give offense. Still he is obliging and that saves the situation. I asked Helen if she thought that when Margery had children she would follow along her mother's lines.

"Why no," said Helen, "I hope she'll improve on 'em. You must remember that the children rarely had occasion to know my motives. Perhaps they think every child is trained as they were. I never tried to impress the children with my personality. What I aimed at was what most mothers should desire for their children, the good old standard virtues which we all ought to have, such as truth, honor, charity, obedience, faith. Those seemed essential. There were other things I wanted for them, such as neatness, courtesy and thrift. There were still others that I hoped they would have, but did not especially strive for: I feared to meddle too much with their individuality. Do you know I could wish now that I had aimed at more in their training. Is it not amazing that every virtue I wished them to have, they have? As I look back I can't see that I worked hard to get them, either. I seem to have simply kept those things in mind and headed the children in that direction. I wanted the children to have certain qualities, and they have them."

"One reason why your children are straightforward and sincere, Helen, is because you never 'pretended' with them. How will children learn the truth from parents whom they frequently hear telling what isn't true? How will they learn honesty when their parents tell them to deceive the conductor about their ages? Those who are taught to be polite only before company are not apt to be truly courteous. Some parents ought to train themselves instead of training their children."

"Oh, of course we must be in earnest," said Helen. "I'd like to say to every young mother: 'Begin early and keep in view the qualities you want your children to have and they will surely have them. Begin before they know that the world contains opinions different from yours. Get ahead of the enemy that sows the tares. Your tiny trees will be all right if you look after them in season. There's nothing hard in bending or straightening a tree while it is little. If you keep it in sight afterwards and see that it stays straight, that is all that is necessary; it will almost certainly grow up as you started it."

"Keep the children in sight" indeed! said I, who see all sorts of children in my school. "Why Helen, then the mothers could not go off on their own good times. Children now-a-days grow up as they happen to. Most mothers would not listen to you."

"Some of them might," said Helen.

Bride's Bouquet Shower

(Good Housekeeping.)

With heavy wire make a semi-round frame with a circle of wire at the bottom, so as to leave a good sized opening. Make the frame large or small, according to the number and character of the gifts to be put inside it. Cover the frame with muslin, and sew the flowers all over it to make it look like a great bride's bouquet. Lilacs and lilies-of-the-valley could be used beautifully, as lilacs are very popular now for bride's bouquets. However, any flowers available may be used. From the bouquet hand many narrow white ribbons strung with lilies-of-the-valley or other small white flowers, just as in a real shower bouquet. Put the gifts inside the bouquet, with a pink ribbon tied to one gift, and tack tissue paper over the opening, with a tiny slash in the tissue paper for the pink ribbon to hang through. Put a pink tassel at the end of the pink ribbon so it will be easily discernable through the white ribbons of the shower. Tie the bouquet firmly by a loop of ribbon run under the wires at the top and hang over a strong hook in a doorway, or some other suitable place. At a signal have the bride-to-be pull the pink ribbon, and down will shower the gifts.

TABLE DECORATIONS

Artificial cherry blossoms and blue birds are the loveliest decorations imaginable, and are very easy to make at home. Sprays of the blossoms may be used in vases at each end of the table. For a centerpiece use one of the little cardboard houses that may be bought at the ten cent store. Cover it all over with plain pink crepe paper, or with the crepe paper with pink cherry blossoms on it. Make a little yard of green crepe paper with a rail fence around it of pink striped stick candy. Put a few sprays of cherry blossoms in the yard for trees and, if you wish, a tiny girl and a boy dolly. Tie a pink ribbon to each stick of candy in the fence, and have the ribbon run to the guests' plates and tied to a place-card and a spray of cherry blossoms. When the coffee or desert is served, tell the guests to pull the ribbons and each one can eat her stick of candy.

ANNOUNCEMENT PARTY

To use this table decoration for an announcement party, wrap a tiny strip of pink note paper around each stick of candy and tie it on with a bow of the narrowest pink ribbon. On each strip of the pink note paper have the announcement written, and the guests will read it when they get their sticks of candy.

TO CROWN YOUTHFUL HEADS

Picturesque is the word best describing the lovely millinery with which this year's debutante is destined to crown her youthful head. Everything in beautiful millinery materials is available for her—ribbons, flowers, braids, laces—and all fabrics in flower-like colors. How effectively they are used may be gathered from the hats pictured here. At the top there is a lovely hat of tulle and piping braid trimmed with a wreath of wheat and field flowers that is like a song of summer. Below it a pretty hat of tulle, with frayed flounces about the brim, is lovely in marine with a band of bright embroidery in the crown. The last hat is of hair braid overlaid with bands of narrow ribbon joined by stitches of embroidery silk.

YOKE

The dainty yoke design of which one-half is given, is made especially for the oval necked nightgown, and the smaller design, for the top of the sleeves. If embroidered on silk French knots and loop stitches may be substituted for the eyelets and satin stitches. The neck and sleeve edges are finished with bias binding of the material or silk. The yoke also makes a charming design for the waist with the shoulder opening.

INITIALS

It is always convenient to have a complete set of initials of one size, which can easily be combined or used separately. Any of the letters will fit either of the three forms. The remaining portion will be given in a following issue.

A Hint for Money Making This Summer

An enterprising woman in one of our smaller cities has established an excellent business by furnishing lunches already packed to motor parties. She sent out circulars giving menus for lunches at so much per person and agreed to furnish them at the shortest notice. An order over the telephone from someone who finds they can unexpectedly get off for a day is filled within an hour. All the motor party have to do is to call for the basket and return it later. At first the caterer found she lost quite a little through breakage and when she tried using heavy stone ware to prevent this, found her customers did not like that. Now she has solved the difficulty by copying the Army canteens and using enameled ware which is both light and unbreakable. Each basket has its full equipment of everything needed in enameled ware except the forks, knives and spoons. Here is a hint for some young woman who would like to make some money this summer.

Hose For Motoring

There are motor hose for women, long-ribbed stockings which come up over the knee, in mixed gray or brown for regular wear and in white to wear over evening slippers. They are attractive in appearance, have a light leather sole under the ball of the foot, with a pom-pom of the wool on the toe. There is a small opening at the heel for the heel of the shoe or slipper to pass through.

Cherries On Spring Hats

Cherries trim quite a number of the new spring models of hats, according to the bulletin of the Retail Millinery Association of America. These are used in the same shade as the hat in natural shades or in a combination of different shades. One very smart little Milan hat in cherry red has a cluster of grapes dangling over the side brim. The facing and draped band of this model are of faillie taffeta.

3 cups granulated sugar; 1 cup milk; 6 tablespoonfuls cocoa; lump of butter the size of a walnut; 2 heaping tablespoonfuls corn starch. Boil about fifteen minutes and beat until smooth. Pour into pan and cut into squares before cool.

Favorite Recipes

APPLE MUFFINS.

1 egg, 1 cupful milk, ¼ cup water (omit water if pastry flour is used), 2 tablespoonfuls melted butter, 2 tablespoonfuls sugar, 1 teaspoonful salt, 2 cupfuls flour, 3 teaspoonfuls baking powder, 1 cup finely chopped apples. Separate egg and beat the yolk thoroughly. Add milk and water then the melted Crisco. Sift together the dry ingredients and add to the liquid together with the chopped apple. Beat thoroughly, then fold in the well-beaten white of egg. Put in Criscoed muffin tins and bake in moderate oven for thirty minutes. Put under contributed recipes

GRAHAM CAKES

1 cup brown sugar, ½ cup butter substitute, 1 egg, 4 tablespoonfuls of milk, 1 cup graham flour, 1 cup wheat flour, 3 teaspoonfuls baking powder, ½ pound chopped dates, ½ teaspoonful salt.

Cream fat with sugar. Add egg well beaten, then milk. Mix and sift flours, baking powder and salt and add. Roll dates in a little flour and stir in last. Mix and bake in a hot oven.

CORN MEAL GINGERBREAD

1 cup milk, 1 cup molasses, ¾ cup butter substitute, 1 cup sugar, 1 teaspoonful soda, 1 teaspoonful salt, 2 cups cornmeal, 1 cup wheat flour, 1 tablespoonful ginger, 1 teaspoonful cinnamon and cloves, 2 eggs.

Cream fat with sugar, add molasses, eggs and milk. Mix spices, soda, salt, cornmeal and flour. Add to first mixture. Bake in a greased, shallow pan. Cook in moderate oven.

The Vogue of the Panel

The vogue for loose flying panels on dresses seems to be increasing as the season develops. At first confined to the back, these loose and full-length panels are seen now on both front and back of formal, semi-formal and afternoon frocks. They are frequently of a material different from that in the body of the dress and sometimes are of a different color. The combination of satin and serge is seen a great deal and, where the dress is all silk, the body of the garment may be of a shiny material while the panels are dull finished though of the same color.

To warm over biscuits, muffins, or rolls, sprinkle lightly with water, place pan containing them in a pan of hot water and put in oven for a few minutes.

Save all the liquid from your mustard pickles and add it to salad dressing in place of fresh vinegar and mustard. When making meat sandwiches this liquid may be mixed with the meat.

ELEGANCE IN SPRING SUITS

The youthful and chic suit shown here will interest those who are looking for novelty. Taking advantage of several privileges offered by spring styles, it has assembled straight lines, flaring sleeves, crisscross tucks and rows of buttons in a charming model made of beige-colored, smooth-faced cloth. Except for diagonal, slit pockets, set in at each side, the skirt is quite plain, bearing out the elegance which the designer had in mind and executed so well. The coat has slashed seams forming five panels, two at the front, one at each side and one at the back. Each front panel is decorated with a row of buttons, and the side panels have beautifully crowsbar tucks as a finish at the bottom.

Foods That Give Bulk

Medicine is becoming more and more a preventive science. Doctors try to tell us how to live so as not to need it. They tell us how to breathe, how to exercise and above all, how and what to eat. One point on which much stress is laid is the necessity of eating a certain amount of coarse food which is not, and is not intended to be, wholly digested either in the stomach or intestines. This, it seems, is needed among other things to insure bulk and to assist the intestines in their functions. Green vegetables appear to be especially favored for this service. Spinach stands high on this list. As

Spring comes on we all crave the fresh, green food and do not need to be coaxed to eat it. If any persons think they do not like spinach it is probably because they have never eaten it well prepared. It should be thoroughly washed, put in an enameled ware kettle or saucepan and enough boiling water poured over it to keep it from scorching. As it cooks a good deal of water comes from the vegetable itself. Add salt, cover tight and let it cook slowly but steadily for an hour. Drain off through an enameled ware colander and serve very hot, adding a little butter when dished. Spinach darkens easily and sometimes attains a disagreeable flavor if cooked long in metal. Cooked in enameled ware there is no such risk and it can be cooked, as it should be, a long time to become really wholesome and attractive.

BIG SCHOOL IS OPENED FOR AMERICANS ABROAD

Ten Thousand Soldiers Have Entered Course Offered By the Government.

By United Press.

Beaune, April 3.—What is expected to be the largest educational institution in the world, or, at least, to have the largest student body, has opened here and the first rush of the anticipated ten thousand students has begun. The buildings are practically all ready. The Army Educational Commission, which will control the school operating it as a military post, is settled in its headquarters. The commanding officer, Col. Ira L. Reeves, former professor of military science at Purdue University, has been at Beaune six weeks supervising preparations. Dr. John Erskine, professor of English at Columbia, is educational director or president of the faculty.

In the faculty are President Kenyon L. Butterfield, of Massachusetts Agricultural College, directing the department of agriculture; Dr. Louis L. Reber, dean of the University of Wisconsin, directing the engineering department, and Dr. F. E. Spaulding, superintendent of schools at Cleveland, in an advisory capacity.

There are fourteen colleges. When in full operation the university, together with the agricultural college nine miles distant, will accommodate nearly 40,000 men, housed in one thousand buildings. The buildings are semi-permanent structures of brick and concrete, 600 of them dormitories and mess halls and the remainder class rooms, laboratories, lecture rooms, recreation and entertainment halls. Athletic fields are being built.

A building to accommodate nearly a half million books furnished by the American Library Association, will be the library. It will surpass many a library in American universities and is intended to cover every subject.

For enrollment, high school or equivalent education is required. The university is opened to all members of the A. E. F., officers and privates alike. There is no cost for tuition, text books, transportation or housing and students will draw their regular pay while in school. If a student's organization is ordered home while he is at school he may remain in school if he desires, so long as the A. E. F. continues to operate it.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to extend our sincere and heartfelt thanks to our many old friends and neighbors for the sympathy, words of condolence and loving kindness shown us in our late sorrow and bereavement in the loss of our beloved husband and father, Mr. Joseph H. Robbins. Especially do we thank the Rev. F. A. Hayward, for his words of sympathy and kindness, the ladies for singing, and Mr. F. J. Voss for the efficient manner in conducting the funeral.

LOOSE FEDERATION IS BAVARIA'S PLAN

Prussians Favor Idea Rather Than a Strongly Centralized Government.

By United Press.

Weimar, April 3.—Due to the demands of Bavaria and the other south German states, the new German Republic will undoubtedly be a very decentralized confederation of States. This is entirely contrary to the hopes of the majority of the Germans, especially from the north, who hoped to model the new organization after that of France, rather than America, and have as much power as possible placed in the Federal Government.

The Prussians were ready to do practically anything to further this plan. Definite ultimatum from the Bavarians woke the Prussians up to the situation. The committee to reorganize industry worked out an elaborate plan for the whole of Germany with regard to the railroads, telegraphs, telephones and postal systems. Prussia would turn everything she had over to the republic, and expected Bavaria and Wurttemberg to do the same. The Bavarians flatly refused to do so, and the Wurttembergers followed suit, in spite of the fact that Prussia offered more than her share.

Bavaria's position is one of extreme independence now. Leaders do not intend to allow their State to fall under control of Prussia again, and it is likely that the only confederation they enter will be one in which Bavarian wishes must be consulted before big questions are settled. Their independence will probably be a decisive brake on imperialism.

Frank Weller, son of Willard E. Weller, of this city, has taken a position as reported on the Columbus Republican. He started work on that paper yesterday.

"BIG FOUR" FAILS TO MAKE PROGRESS

ceed immediately to Hungary. It was announced that Smuts would investigate certain problems arising out of the armistice on which the supreme council desires further information.

Unofficially, it is understood Smuts will open negotiations which will provide the basis for an agreement between Hungary and the allies.

In case the "big four" should decide to send food into Russia, it is declared that strict provisions would be made for the soviet government to cease hostilities and permit the states which have broken away from the Bolsheviks to decide their own fate. There is reason to believe, it was learned from reliable sources, that Russia is ready to "behave" if she can have food.

Premier Lloyd George is reported to favor giving Russia food. The French press recently contained an article—which perhaps was inspired—suggesting it would be a good idea to do something toward restoring order in Russia.

The articles suggest food as the best means for bringing this about.

Deaths from starvation in Russia are numerous and conditions are so pitiable that it is felt food relief would help swing the Russians back to a more normal social scheme than that of Bolshevism. Last night's official communique regarding yesterday's meeting of the "big four" announced that "progress was made."

It is known, however, that those close to President Wilson were not so optimistic as they were Tuesday. The only subject on which the "big four" appeared to be making real progress was that of reparations, which was taken up again today, along with other matters.

The conferees, it was learned, are still inclined to favor the scheme for establishment of a special permanent reparations commission which would collect indemnities as the Germans were able to pay, leaving the exact amount undefined as exclusively outlined by the United Press yesterday.

Wilson was scheduled to confer with King Albert some time today regarding Belgium's general claims.

Miss Eula Smith, Miss Doris Doyle of Loogootee, and Miss Bertha Yarbough, of Washington, visited friends in this city this morning enroute to their homes from Indianapolis.

COUNTY MUST PAY CENSUS EXPENSE

attorney general holds that if the trustee takes this enumeration himself he is not entitled to additional compensation for the work as his salary is fixed by law and he is not entitled to any additional remuneration. If the work is done by assistants, however, the attorney-general rules, the council must pay the expense. This ruling means that the county council will be required to make an appropriation for this work. The enumeration may be taken at any time between April 1 and July 1.

The matter was discussed at the meeting of the trustees which was held at Brownstown Wednesday afternoon and on motion of Dr. W. M. Casey, trustee of Jackson township, a uniform scale of pay for the assistant enumerators was voted. They may be paid a specified amount for each day's work or stipulated sum for each person enumerated. The trustees decided to use the latter plan of compensation and fixed the rate at five cents for each person enumerated in the city and towns and eight cents per head in the rural districts. This is not as much as the state board of accounts would permit.

ATTORNEY'S FOR HAYWOOD ATTEMPT TO GET $15,000 BOND

I. W. W. Leaders Sentenced to Federal Prison Admitted to Bail Pending Hearing.

By United Press.

Chicago, April 3.—Attorneys Clarence S. Darrow and George F. Vandever today attempted to obtain the $24,000 bail necessary for release of "Big Bill" Haywood and thirty six other I. W. W. leaders now serving terms in the Leavenworth federal prison.

The men were ordered admitted to bail pending a hearing on their appeal by the United States district court of appeals late yesterday on motion of Darrow. Bail in the case of Haywood was fixed at $15,000 with sums of from $1,000 to $10,000 in the cases of the other men. In addition to the bail, the men promised through sponsors not to carry on I. W. W. propaganda or violate any federal laws.

The men admitted are among the ninety leaders given prison terms by Federal Judge K. M. Landis nearly a year ago. They have been in prison since September 8, 1918. The court overruled motions by government attorneys that other I. W. W.'s might be encouraged to overt acts. The judges ruled they could not consider such possibilities.

1 or 3 Drops Applied in a Few Seconds—There's No Fussing or Cutting.

"Gets-It" Always Works! the old, savage way. "Gets-It" is the modern, painless, simple way. Lean over and put two drops of "Gets-It" on the corn, put your stocking and shoe right on again, and forget the corn. Pain is eased. "Gets-It" has revolutionized the treatment of corns. It never irritates the true flesh. You'll stop limping on the side of your shoe, and do away with greasy salves, bandaging bandages, thick plasters and painful methods. Use "Gets-It", it's common sense.

The River

When the Colorado Burst Its Banks and Flooded the Imperial Valley of California

CHAPTER XXX.

The Dragon Scores.

The Palmyra was once again on its siding. Marshall was at the front again; having made another of his swift dashes from Tucson. This time he expected officially to close the gate. Claudia was with him. She never left the car, unless it were to step out to the platform to see what she could find from there of the river work.

Hardin and Rickard had been devoting anxious weeks. A heavy rainfall and cloudburst in the mountains of northern Arizona had swollen the feeders of the Gila river which roared down to the Colorado above Yuma. The eroding streams carried mountains in solution which settled against the gate, a scour starting above and below it. Relief had to be given on the jump. A spur track was rushed across the by-pass above the gate, as the closing of the ill-fated gate with the flashboards was no longer possible. A rock-fill was the only means of closure. In the distant quarries men were digging out rock to fill the call from the river.

Marshall came down to see the completed spur. Before he reached the intake, the first rock train had moved onto the spur track. The trestle had settled, the train had been thrown from the rails and wrecked.

Marshall came in from the damaged trestle, bringing Rickard and Crothers. Mrs. Marshall had invited Innes Hardin to dine with them. Innes fell to flushing, and chiding, as a lithe-muscled figure came directly to her. His eyes—where was the look she had feared, of possessive tenderness? The quizzical gleam was gone. On guard! A solemn business, loving, when you know that it means—life! On guard, though, to her! She pulled her fingers from his strong lingering clasp, and joined Mrs. Marshall.

Rickard had his soldier look on. She was watching him covertly as he talked with his host and Crothers, as though she were not there; as though something were not waiting for him to claim. How could he be talking, oblivious of everything else in the world except the river? Was that—loving? Could she think of anything else when he was in the same room with her? He was a soldier of the modern army. It came to her, a sort of tender divination, that he would not divide his thoughts, even with her, with love, until his battle was won. Well, couldn't she understand that? What her accusation against Gerty? Sex honor—keep off the track! Wasn't that her own notion? Oughtn't she to be proud of him?

She had brought a nest of waspish thoughts tumbling about her ears. Gerty! He had loved Gerty. He couldn't love her, if his thoughts had ever lingered, with that same seriously solemn look on the false little face of her sister-in-law.

After dinner they were standing in the shade of the Palmyra. It was a soft still afternoon. The fierceness of the savage desert had melted to her days of lure. Beyond, the turbid waters of the Colorado bore a smiling surface. There was nothing to hint of treachery.

It was a minute of pleasant lassitude, snatched from the turmoil. Rickard had succumbed to the softness of the day and his mood. He was enjoying the thought of Innes' nearness, though she kept her face turned from him. He knew by the persistence of those averted eyes that she was as acutely conscious of his presence as he was, restfully, of hers. Deliberately, he was prolonging the instant.

A stir on the river had caught the alert eye of Tod Marshall. He swore a string of picturesque Marshallian oaths. Rickard's eyes jumped toward the by-pass. The placid waters had suddenly buckled. Majestically the gate rose and went out. Months of work swept away! The gate drifted a hundred feet or more. Some unseen obstruction caught it there, to mock at the labors of man.

Innes, aghast, turned toward Rickard. His face was expressionless. There was a babel of excited voices behind them. Bodefeldt, MacLean, Tony, Crothers, Bangs, all talking at once. Her eyes demanded something of Rickard. A fierce resentment rose against his calmness. "He knew it," she rebelled. "He's been expecting this to happen. It's no tragedy to him!" There was a stab as of physical pain; she was visualizing the blow to Tom.

She heard Marshall's voice, speaking to Rickard. "Well, you're ready for this." She did not hear the answer, for already Rickard was heading for the by-pass. Marshall and the young engineers followed him.

To Innes that wreck down yonder was worse than failure; it was ruin. It involved Tom's life. It was his life. This would be the final crushing of his superb courage—her thoughts released from their paralysis were whipped by sudden fear. She must find him, be with him. The next instant she was speeding toward the encampment.

Estrada met her on the run.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Catarrhal Deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing may be destroyed forever. Many cases of Deafness are caused by Catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the Mucous Surfaces. # P. COLABUONO'S FAMILY SHOE STORE

5 W. Second Street, Seymour, Ind.
Opposite New Lynn Hotel

WE wish to express our sincere appreciation to all our regular patrons and the public in general for their very prompt response to the announcement of our big stock reducing sale held for the past ten days, and just concluded. The liberal buying of the enormous crowds that came from all parts of Seymour and surrounding country far exceeded our widest expectations and our purpose of having the sale has more than been accomplished, and in order that all who attended the sale may be as well pleased with their bargains, we will continue to exchange any unsatisfactory purchases, during the remainder of this week.

Our reason for placing our stock of Summer and Winter footwear on sale without reserve at this time was to reduce it to one-half of the size to which it had grown during the period of the war through our efforts to protect ourselves and our patrons as much as possible, against the continued raising of prices on the shoe market, by placing exceptionally large future orders, before the later advances, with many of the manufacturers of the regular lines of reliable footwear we have been handling in each department for years, and which, considering the present doubtful situation that exists on all markets, caused us to feel that we were heavily overstocked, and we decided it would be well for us to unload one-half of these goods at a sacrifice of all profits and even at a decided loss in many instances, in order to protect ourselves against any disadvantages that might come to us through a possible immediate or future substantial decline in prices on the shoe market, which will inevitably come sooner or later.

We might say however, that at the present time we know of no positive indication of lower shoe prices; in fact, there has been a substantial increase, within the last two months, in the prices of certain kinds of shoes, and in all of the authentic information that it is possible for a shoe dealer to obtain, there is no promise of relief at any particular time, but we will admit, we feel more at ease under present conditions since the size of our stock has been reduced.

Owing to the great rush and congestion of the big crowds at times during the sale, we regret that it was utterly impossible on some occasions to render our usual standard of service and for this reason many of our regular patrons and others were unable to make their selections and take advantage of the greatly reduced prices, and therefore, in order to satisfy the desires of all during the remainder of this week while we are rearranging the store, we will continue to sell in every department at the same low prices that have obtained throughout the sale.

Had Gerty heard? The pity that she must know! She would not be tender to Tom; her pride would be wounded. She must ask her to be tender, generous. Her footsteps slackened as she came in sight of the tents.

She heard voices in the ramada, a man's clear notes mingling with Gerty's childish treble. "Godfrey!" Her mind jumped to other tete-a-tetes. Of course! So that was what was going on. And she not seeing! If not one man, then another! Horrid little clandestine affairs!

The meeting was awkward. Speedily Innes got rid of the news. Mrs. Hardin shrugged. "I believe I'll go out." Plaintively, she made the announcement, as though it were just evolved. "Now, the camp will be horrid. Everybody will be cross and everybody will be working."

As she left the tent beyond, Innes could hear the vibrant voice of Godfrey persuading Mrs. Hardin to stay there a few weeks longer. She could hear him say, "This will delay the turning of the river at the most but a few weeks. Rickard told me so a week ago. And think what it would be here without you!"

"They were all expecting it!" resisted Innes Hardin. She turned back toward the river. She must find Tom.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Plump have been notified of the arrival of their son, Fred Plump, in New York. He has been with the American forces overseas for several months.

Dr. Lurah Rader received word today that her sister, Mrs. J. H.
Hellans and daughter, Mary of Greenville, S. C., who have both been critically ill are very much improved.

Miss Minnie Shepard, who has been doing missionary work among the Roumanians in Indianapolis, is at home for a two weeks visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Shepard. She has closed her work in Indianapolis and will go to Ohio, where she will continue her missionary work and will probably be located in Cincinnati.

Dr. Wirt Lewther, pastor of the Broadway M. E. church, Logansport, has resigned his position to go on the lecture platform. Dr. Lowther is well known in this city as he was platform manager at the Seymour chautauqua for two years. He preached his farewell sermon to his congregation last Sunday morning and in the evening all of the Logansport churches united in a big farewell service with three thousand people present.

Since the appointment by Judge
Cox of Charles F. Robertson, of Brownstown, and John Q. Foster, of Vernon township, both republicans, as members of the county board of equalization, it has been learned that the tax law, passed by the recent legislature, provides that the two members must be of different political faith. This necessitates the retirement of one of the newly appointed members so that a democrat can be named. The county auditor, assessor and treasurer are also members of this board.
